ATLANTA, GEORGIA, SUNDAY MORNING, NOVEMBER 27, 1887.

PRICE FIVE CENTS.

DRY GOODS, MILLINERY, ETC.

JOHN KEELY'S SUPERB ATTRACTIONS FOR THIS WEEK!

KEELY'S CLOAK

Stock is fully recruited for this week and will present

Extraordinary Attractions!

I made an offer by telegraph last week for a large, very large lot of Cloaks of fifty cents on the dollar. It was accepted

And the Cloaks are Here!

Now is Your OPPORTUNITY!

They may all prate of "Bargains," but I will sell Atlanta Cloaks "all the same" for the balance of this season.

STARTLING THINGS!

100 Ladies' Black Cloth Cloaks, at $1 each.
115 Ladies' Black Cloth Cloaks at $1.75 each.
211 Ladies' heavily trimmed Black Cloaks, $2.25 each.

Not one of them was ever made for four times the price.

276 LONG CUT RUSSIAN DOLMANS.

Made of most excellent All-wool Diagonal Cloth, handsomely trimmed bottom and sides with

FINE BLACK FUR,

And intended to be retailed at $12 each.

Oh, the fallacy of "good intentions!"

I will sell them at $3.75 each.

THIS IS A MOST

ASTOUNDING BARGAIN!

There are Others Like it Here, However.

150 Ladies' Colored Cloth Jackets $1.50 each; goods well worth $3.00.
400 Ladies' Black and Colored English Walking Jackets at from $2.50 up to the very finest grades made and composing the most attractive variety perhaps ever offered in this line.

Scores of new things in short Plush Wraps. Novelties in cloth short wraps.
Lovely Plush Jackets.
Plush and Cloth Raglans.
1,000 Newmarkets of the latest styles.
216 beautiful quality Russian circulars.

500 MISSES CLOAKS

4 to 16 years' sizes at half price.

SPECIAL!

Amongst the receipts noticed above will be found 27 Ladies' extra grade Seal Plush long Coats, $18 each, worth $40.
This is no idle statement, but a fact!

No mercy on "Cloaks" for the balance of this season at JOHN KEELY'S.

I purchased them at half price. I will sell them in same proportion.

Dress Goods

Are having quite a Boom just now.

PLAUDITS

Are being lavished upon them daily by the delighted purchasers who throng the counters. This is quite gratifying to one who never humbugs the people. I always advertise simply and strictly, what I am prepared to show.

More yards of Goods are being sold daily from this Dress Goods Counter than ever known in the history of any Dress Goods Department south.

It is No Wonder!

The Stock is Immense!

The Variety is simply Superb;

But the Prices are the strong Point.

11 Salesmen employed in this Stock alone.

I Have Just Opened

57 Pieces double width, Tricot Cloths, from Auction at 23 1/2 cents yard; goods sold for nearly double that price.

60 pieces left of full 6-4 Boucle Cloths, of BEST GRADE.

50 cents a yard—Goods worth $1.50

THIS IS AN INCOMPARABLE BARGAIN!

5,000 yards pretty Fall Worsted, 5 cents yard—217 pieces lovely Dress Goods, 10 and 12 1/2 cents yard.

3,700 yards beautiful 6-4 Cashmeres, at 15 and 20 cents yard.

319 pieces of the best 25 and 35 cents Dress Goods ever shown over Atlanta counters.

REMEMBER!

I Have Something Extra for you Here.

I HAVE REDUCED THE PRICE

Of every piece of Dress Goods in the house priced above 50c. yd.

THE CUT IN PRICES HAS BEEN SILVER.

I am determined not to have one yard of the present Dress Goods Stock on CHRISTMAS DAY.

Superb bargains in fine dress goods.

If you want dress goods at 50 cents or upwards, come to

JOHN KEELY'S.

You'll get them certain.

They will be slaughtered!

SILKS

No use talking!

This Silk Stock has got to Leave here Before Christmas!

I don't want to have it staring at me on the short, dark days of January.

Out it Must Go!

Extraordinary offerings in Fancy Silk Velvets.
Princely bargains in Silk plushes.
Colored Plain Silk Velvets given away.
The most extraordinary bargains in Black Silk Velvets ever heard of will be given here now to close out.

Black Silks!

I have too many of my justly celebrated

Black Silks

On hand, hence the following Reductions in Prices, as I have determined to close the greater portion of them out, by Christmas!

These Are They

Which I have guaranteed boldly for the past two years, with only one claim having been made for failure to wear well!

I believe that this is the only Make of Silk

IN THE WORLD

which goes before the Public with such a record.

I have Cut the Prices of these Black Silks from 25 to 35 per cent.

You Never Saw Such

BARGAINS.

You Never Will Again!

BLANKETS!

I place Blankets "Upon My List" of Goods Cut and Slashed in Price, in order to effect a clearing out of the same.

READ THIS!

100 pair 10-4 White Blankets, 85 cents pair; reduced from $1.25 to close out.

100 pair 10-4 White Blankets, $1.15 pair; reduced from $2.25 to close out.

78 pair 10-4 White Blankets, $1.50 a pair; reduced from $2.75 to close out.

63 pair 10-4 White Blankets, $1.75 a pair; reduced from $3.00 to close out.

A superb line of finer grade White Blankets, which will "be handled with gloves off" as to price, in order to close them out.

Merino Underwear

Great Concessions in Price of some lines to close them out.

I am overstocked in Underwear, ("an honest confession is good for the soul") and, recognizing the fact that the time to "unload" is whilst the demand exists, I have cut the prices of this stock largely, and the result is CHEAP UNDERWEAR.

NO SUCH PRICES ELSEWHERE!

That is, no such prices for similar goods. Ladies', Gents' and Children's Merino Underwear!

In Red, White and Gray. All sizes and qualities. The bargain counter full of them.

New Prices Made

And regardless of values. The object is

To Close Them Out.

WINTER HOSIERY

Just Opened!

At strictly half price.

Another large shipment of sample wool hose for ladies, for gents' and for children.

Thousand upon thousands of Woolen Hose, in every size, shape and color.

Nothing too whimsical in the shape of demand, to be met here, precisely.

No Such a Variety,

No Such Prices Ever Here Before.

SHIRTS

The stock of Gents and Boys' Shirts is very perfect at this time. I offer you

The Best 50 Cent Shirt

IN AMERICA.

Reinforced both front and back. Fine Linen Collars and Cuffs. Also, the best 75 cent Shirt ever thrown upon this market. It compares favorably with the average $1 Shirt. I sell you

The Diamond Shirt

For $1.

That settles it. It is the best in the world. Superb line of Cassimere Overshirts. Splendid line of Cotton Working Shirts.

NOTICE!

Just opened—A very attractive line of Gimp and Braid and Beaded Sets for Dress Trimmings, at less than one-half recent prices for same goods, at

John Keely's.

John Keely's

the Head

Catarh may affect any portion of the body where the mucous membrane is found. But catarh of the head is by far the most common. It is a disease of the mucous membrane of the nose, throat, and lungs. It is a disease of the mucous membrane of the nose, throat, and lungs. It is a disease of the mucous membrane of the nose, throat, and lungs.

Terrible Headache. I read that Dr. H. D. Sarsaparilla would cure catarh, and after taking one bottle I am much better. My catarh is cured, my throat is entirely well, and my headache has all disappeared.

Dr. H. D. Sarsaparilla cured me of catarh, and built up my general health, so that I am feeling better than for years. It is the first medicine I ever knew of which would cure catarh. Dr. H. D. The Reason Why

Ayer's Pills are so popular is, that while always reliable as a cathartic medicine, they never leave any ill effects. This is because they are purely vegetable, and entirely free from calomel or any other dangerous drug. In all cases, therefore, whether the patient be old or young, they may be confidently administered.

In the Southern and Western States, where derangements of the liver are so general, Ayer's Pills have proved an invaluable blessing. D. W. Baine, New Bern, N. C., writes:

"I suffered a long time with stomach and liver troubles. I tried various remedies, but received no benefit until I commenced taking Ayer's Pills. These pills benefited me at once. I took them regularly for a few months, and my health was completely restored."

Throughout New England, next to lung diseases, Stomach and Bowel Complaints are the most prevalent.

Dyspepsia

and Constipation are almost universal. Mr. Gallacher, a practical chemist, of Roxbury, Mass., who was long troubled with Dyspepsia, writes:

"A friend induced me to try Ayer's Pills, and after taking one box without much benefit, I was disposed to quit them; but he urged perseverance, and before I had finished the second box, I began to experience relief. I continued taking them, at intervals, until I had used eleven boxes. Since that time, I am now a well man, and grateful to your chemistry, which outstrips mine."

The head and stomach are always in sympathy; hence the cause of most of those distressing headaches, to which so many, especially women, are subject. Mrs. Harriet A. Marble, of Foughkepsie, N. Y., writes that for years she was a martyr to headache, and never found anything to give her more than temporary relief, until she began taking Ayer's Pills, since which she has been in the enjoyment of perfect health.

MILES OF FLAME

Have Played Havoc in the South and Southwest.

WHOLE SECTIONS ARE LAID WASTE

Houses and Barns Burned Down—Railroad Property Destroyed and People fleeing for Their Lives.

St. Louis, November 25.—For several days a veritable cloud of gloom has hung over St. Louis and life has been rendered almost intolerable by smoke. During the day the sun is almost totally obscured or appears simply as a dull red ball, and at night the moon and stars are invisible, and even the street lamps are not visible to the naked eye, except at very close range.

All the people are coughing and rubbing their aching and inflamed eyes, and cursing the drought and forest fires that are devastating vast sections of country in all directions. Smoke is over and about and in everything. The streets are full of it, the houses are full of it, the people's eyes, noses and lungs are full of it, and timid persons are afraid to go to sleep at night lest the dense smoke should suffocate them. It all comes from the forest and prairie fires that are burning fiercely in Illinois, Missouri, Arkansas, Indiana, Texas, Tennessee and the Indian Territory.

EXTENT OF THE CONFLAGRATION. Your correspondent met Mr. L. B. Farley, of Hot Springs, Ark., who had just come from the Iron Mountain railroad, traveling through a section afflicted by the scourge of fire.

"The forest and prairie fires that are now devastating the mountains and the prairie are destructive and widespread than people believe," said Mr. Farley. "The forests of northeastern Arkansas have been burning for three weeks, and hundreds of thousands of acres of timber have been destroyed. Around Hot Springs the fires have been burning fiercely, and for a few nights the landscape was entirely changed. The smoke was so thick that this side of Little Rock the air is thick with gray, stifling smoke, freighted with ashes. The fires seem to be working all northeast and south-west, and the smoke is so thick that it is not confined to forests, but the crops and improvements on hundreds of farms have fallen a prey to the flames. I saw a strip of territory about ten miles long, and after the flames had passed over it, and it would be hard to conceive anything more desolate. It had been covered with a fine forest, and all that remained was the black and burned earth and some charred stumps."

PRATHERS AND FORESTERS ALIKE SUFFER.

"The dry prairie forms a combustible link between the forest and there is nothing there will put an end to the destruction but a heavy rain. Coming up on the train the progress of the fires could be seen on all sides. Southwest Missouri was to be seen severely. Standard county and some of the adjoining counties, which are low and swampy, are being swept by the flames. The underbrush and scrub oaks that grow in the swamp are dry as tinder and burn rapidly."

"Did you hear of any lives being lost?"

"No; but I heard rumors that some hunters were surrounded by fire, but there is nothing authentic regarding the loss of life. Generally the farmers are warned by the smoke and wind, and if they embrace the opportunity can escape."

BAD NEWS FROM MANY SECTIONS.

From other sources your correspondent obtained information of a similar character concerning the work of the destroying element in this immediate vicinity and throughout the south and southwest. Dispatches from many towns and railroad stations show that vast areas of timber land and cultivated country have been and are now under the sway of the fire fiend in southern Illinois and Indiana. A dispatch from Anna, Ill., says:

"The forest fires are still raging in nearly all parts of this (Union) county and surrounding counties. By almost superhuman efforts they had been brought to the point where they were burning, and were doing about as much good as harm, but the high wind of Saturday and Sunday scattered the flames, and for the past two days they have been spreading rapidly. The smoke to-day was almost unbearable, so thick that the sun could scarcely be seen. Reports coming up from the Mississippi bottom are that many pieces of valuable timber land have caught fire, and nothing can be done to check the flames. The farm of M. V. Leaves is suffering very much, several thousand rails having been burned. The farm is in danger. A barn on his farm caught fire yesterday and was destroyed, together with the contents and some agricultural implements, a large buggy, etc. Several other barns were burned. The farmers of the entire region, assisted by many people from town, are hard at work fighting the fires, although little can be done to stay their progress. The woods a few miles east of Anna are now burning."

The farm residence of A. W. Mangrove, several miles east of town, caught fire from the burning woods and was destroyed, together with the contents. The forests around Dongola, nine miles south of here, caught fire Saturday, and for a while the town was in great peril, but the fire is now partly under control, though the danger to the town is still great. Fires on the ties and the Mobile and Ohio railroad for the past few days have delayed trains considerably. Telegraph poles on the lines of both the Illinois Central and Mobile and Ohio have been burned, causing great annoyance and delay. No rain to speak of has fallen here for five months."

From other sources your correspondent obtained information of a similar character concerning the work of the destroying element in this immediate vicinity and throughout the south and southwest. Dispatches from many towns and railroad stations show that vast areas of timber land and cultivated country have been and are now under the sway of the fire fiend in southern Illinois and Indiana. THE
GENUINE

JOHANN HOFF'S MALT EXTRACT

Indorsed by all the Leading Physicians Throughout the Civilized World.

FAC-SIMILE OF THE GENUINE.

THE GENUINE.

JOHANN HOFF'S MALT EXTRACT has received Seventy Awards from Exhibitions and Societies. Gold Medals from the Emperors of Germany, Russia and Austria, and the Kings of Prussia, Belgium and Denmark, and the Sultan of Turkey. Its excellency is unrivalled.

Dr. Watson, Office and Residence, 399 John Street,
CINCINNATI, Dec. 29, 1886.

Messrs. EISNER & MENDELSON COMPANY.—GENTLEMEN: My patient has just finished the last bottle of the GENUINE JOHANN HOFF'S MALT EXTRACT with marked improvement. I can cheerfully say that it is all and more than you claim for it, for in my patient's case of DYSPEPSIA nothing would remain upon her stomach; hence there was extreme debility, and she certainly could not have survived much longer. After taking the second bottle we could see quite an improvement. Her appetite became better, and she could retain food without distressing her. She feels for the first time in six months that she has been confined to her bed—that she will now recover. It has certainly proved in her case a great boon. I can cheerfully indorse Genuine Johann Hoff's Malt Extract for all you claim, both in dyspepsia, anæmia and other kindred diseases. I will take great pleasure in recommending it to other practitioners, also to my patients. Respectfully,

HENRY WATSON, M. D.

An Abstract from the Work on Pulmonary Diseases Published by Prof. Prosper de Pietra Santa, of Paris.

"For some years Johann Hoff, of Berlin, has manufactured a liquid malt extract which the medical profession have used with such beneficial results, because of its great diastetic properties. This malt extract has remarkable nutritious action, both tonic and restorative, and has proved to be of great value in chronic diseases, producing a contraction of the muscles of the digestive organs. An aid to digestion it is wonderful in building up lost power. The great practitioners of Paris—Blache, Barth, Gueneau de Mussy, Pichaux, Fauvel, Empis, Danet, Robert de Latour, Bouchet, Florry and Fardieu—highly recommend this pleasant remedy in restoring weakened digestion. My personal experience leads me to confirm the praise which Prof. Prosper de Pietra Santa expresses in the following words: 'As a large number of patients lack the necessary power to digest solid food, and would through the use of stimulants be merely excited and weakened, therefore I regard it of immense value to the practitioner to bring to his aid a nutritious tonic and remedy like the Genuine Johann Hoff's Malt Extract, which will act not only as a tonic, but as a nutrient as well, and which is less exciting than wine or any stimulant.'"

DR. LAMB'S LETTER.

1240 HANOVER ST., PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Dec. 6, 1886.

Messrs. EISNER & MENDELSON: I have used Johann Hoff's Malt Extract for the past five years in my private practice, and have found it to be the best Health Restoring Beverage and Tonic Nutrient known. I have found it especially good in persons convalescing from fever, in cases of dyspepsia, for mothers nursing and in cases of weakly children, and also in lung troubles. My attention was drawn by the immense importation semi-monthly, and about a million of bottles imported by you have passed my inspection in the Custom-House satisfactorily for the past five years. Yours respectfully,

W. W. LAMB, M. D.,

Chief Drug Inspector, U. S. Port of Philadelphia.

PADRE FRANCIS.

The Legend of the White Flower With a Crimson Heart.

THE CHORRO MOUNTAIN

A Tragedy Connected With the Early History of the San Luis Obispo Mission.

From the San Francisco Examiner.

Chorro mountain rises its head on the west side of Chorro valley. It slopes up gradually on the south, west and north sides, and the top is surmounted by a cone-shaped pile of rocks. The cone on the east side has the appearance of having been cut in two, and its perpendicular face starts almost out of the valley. It is many hundred feet from the foot to the top of the face of this wall of granite, the surface of which is broken here and there by sharp-pointed crags. Perched on the top, and pointing over the precipice, is a huge flat-top boulder that seems to threaten the traveler who passes at the foot of the mountain.

Several years ago, while journeying in that section, I made the ascent of the natural mountain, having for my guide a half-breed Mexican. On the top of the cliff, my eye fell on a small peculiar flower that bloomed from a cleft in the rocks. It was a tiny white flower, with a crimson center shaped like a heart—the only sign of vegetation that could be seen there. I reached out my hand to pluck one of them to examine it, as it was a curiosity to me, when the half-breed sprang toward me and exclaimed excitedly in Spanish: "Do not touch it! Do not pull it! It is bad luck! Don't you know? But, no you don't. You would rather put your hand on a fiery coal than touch the drop of blood from the heart of the holy father. No, you do not know the story."

"Indeed I do not," I replied. "Tell it to me." And far up there he told me in his quaint way the tradition of Chorro mountain, and the little white flower with its heart of crimson. "It was Father Junipero Serra, rest to his soul, who founded the mission San Luis Obispo. After leaving a small handful of soldiers to protect the church and the padres, the good man went his way and the mission prospered. "At last came another band of missionaries from the City of Mexico, and with them great soldiers. These went to work with great zeal to make more converts among the peaceable Indians, and soon many were set to work and taught to till the land. They missed the liberty that they had been used to, and ere long there was a revolt, which resulted in great bloodshed and almost in the destruction of Mission San Luis Obispo. "The leading men of the disaffected were named after his baptism Pedro. He was darker in color, heavier built and more vicious than any other man in the colony. His sharp bone dagger had more fathers and the captain of the soldiers among the Indians. At last they found Pedro and learned of his absence and late return, and they found blood on his hands and on his breast-plate. "How came it there?" they asked. "I killed a deer," answered Pedro, sullenly. "Here is the skin and meat?" His arrows will be red with blood—bring them," said the captain. "No fresh blood-mark was on the arrows, heads, and Pedro was put in the dungeon till the morn."

"At the first break of day a body of soldiers took Pedro and three friendly Indian trappers, and followed the accused man's tracks. They led to this very mountain and Pedro became greatly agitated and had to be dragged along. Up the tracks led, they found more foot-prints, and see they were made by the mangled feet of a priest. They, too, led up, over boulders, through brush, but over up and to the top of the mountain. "What is it that they see? Hush! It is Padre Francis at prayer alone on the mountain, as near as mortal man can get to heaven. He knelt beside the huge boulder, his hands clasped before him, his head resting on the cold, hard rock. Do not disturb his holy meditation and supplications, as his spirit reaches up to the Father of all. "But how still he is! No movement is detected by the searchers, who stand with uncovered heads. "The captain approaches reverentially, but apprehensive. What! dead? No, no, do not say so! Yes, dead, and as cold as the rock again which he kneels. "What is this blood? And this? It is a knife, bone dagger, red with the heart blood of the priest. Oh, horror! He has been murdered!"

"The Indian Pedro stands trembling like a leaf, and as his eyes fall on his bloody bone dagger, he tears himself loose from his captors and springs forward to secure the murderous weapon. He reaches out his hand, but recoils with a cry of terror. The poisonous fangs of a rattlesnake that lies quiet and blind, as they all do the fall, have pierced his flesh. He bounds backward a step. His foot strikes on a rolling rock, and with a shriek he goes over the dizzy precipice. Wildly grasping at the empty air he goes down, down, down; bounded from crag to ledge, still he falls. "Look! Is the murderer a shapeless mass at the foot of the rock? No; he strikes on a ledge, and is held there by a pointed crag half way down the cliff. And see, the mangled body is lying close beside the rattlesnake's nest. "Padre Francis was one of the most sincere and zealous of those who faced the dangers of the deep to come from Spain, and the hardships and perils of a journey on foot through an unexplored region to reach his place of labor. "This man of God was well beloved by most of the mission Indians because of his goodness of heart and his kind, gentle ways. Pedro saw in him his greatest enemy, as too many loved the good man to suit his purposes, and he resolved that Padre Francis must die before a revolt could be successful. "Padre Francis often took long pilgrimages into the country, and many said he was in search of yellow gold and shining silver, which even to this day are believed to be hid in these great mountains. One day the good Padre went forth. "Pedro left the mission by stealth soon after, and did not come back till late in the day. Padre Francis did not come back, and inquiry was made by the other fathers and the captain of the soldiers among the Indians. At last they found Pedro and learned of his absence

and late return, and they found blood on his hands and on his breast-plate. "How came it there?" they asked. "I killed a deer," answered Pedro, sullenly. "Here is the skin and meat?" HIS LAST DOLLAR.

BY WALLACE P. REED.

For The Constitution. It was a cold winter night, and it was very uncomfortable in the little attic room. The city clock was striking seven when a thin, pale-faced woman arose from her bed, where she had been vainly trying to keep warm under her scanty covering. She was dressed in her every-day costume, and it was evident from her appearance that she had not been asleep. She had simply been trying for a few moments to escape from the bitter cold. Mrs. Duval glanced about the poorly furnished room. "Why does not Francis come?" she said in an anxious tone. "I know," she added softly, "that he will fall, but perhaps he will be more fortunate tomorrow."

Just then the door opened and Francis Duval entered. "You are a rare woman to receive me with such a welcome," he said; "but you do not know all." "Yes," responded Duval; "it is the same old story. I found that it was useless to apply for employment. Old Bidwell was as hard as a flint. He said that my passion for gambling made me so absolutely untrustworthy that he would not have anything to do with me."

"Was that all, Francis?" "No," said the young man moodily; "he handed me a five-dollar bill, and said that on looking over his books he had found that it was due me and had been overlooked."

"And she almost danced about the room in a joyful way. "Five dollars!" she cried. "Why, Francis, that is a little fortune. It will buy coal and something to eat. We can make ourselves so comfortable tonight, and tomorrow you will feel like a new man, and I feel sure that you will get something to do."

"The man bowed his head and groaned. "Is anything the matter? Are you ill?" his wife asked. "I did not tell you all," he said. "You know my falling. I had the bill changed and walked along the streets thinking of what I could buy and bring to you. Almost before I knew it I was in front of the Palace. You know what I mean?"

"That horrid gambling den!" "Yes. I do not wonder that you speak of it in that way. It has stripped me of everything I had. It has lost me my situation, and reduced me to starvation. Yes, it is a den of devils!"

"Francis"—and the little woman again threw her arms around his neck—"Francis, I have something to tell you." "What can it be?" he asked with a faint smile. "I have got a dollar," she whispered. "A dollar!" he gasped. "Yes, a whole dollar; I found it in my trunk while you were out. So, you see, there is no danger of our starving or freezing tonight. I hate to have you go out again in this terrible weather, but in five minutes you will return with a little coal and a hot lunch, and there will be something left for breakfast."

"And tomorrow?" suggested Francis. "It will be all right tomorrow," said his wife, speaking rapidly. "I think you realize how near death your fatal habits have brought us. Think of it, my husband! You will never gamble again!"

Duval's eye flashed fire. "Never. I swear it!" he shouted. "Anything but that. I will go to any kind of honest work if you will stand by me and be patient."

"Then," broke out the little woman, "our fortune is made. I will talk to Mr. Bidwell myself tomorrow, and I am sure that he will listen to me. Here is the money. You will not be gone long, will you?"

"You may expect me back in almost no time," replied Duval, as he buttoned his overcoat to his chin. He lost no time in talking about it, but bolted through the door, and rushed off.

He did not know how it happened, but before he could compose his thoughts he found himself in front of the Palace. The blaze of light attracted him, and almost unconsciously he walked in and joined a little group playing roulette.

Duval did not know what he was doing. When he found two dollars in his hand and saw that he had won it on the red, he tried the same color again and doubled his money. Then an outcry startled him. He had staked his money on the eagle, and had been again successful.

Almost blinded, with a strange light gleaming in his eyes, he continued to play, and at the end of two hours his pockets were well stuffed with bills and coins. He had staked his money on the eagle, and had been again successful.

He placed his hand on the table, and the steps leading to the little attic room creaked under the eager steps of the man who was ascending them with a basket and several bundles in his arms.

"My God!" he said to himself. "It is nearly morning, and I forgot all about her. But now it will be all right, and when she sees what a fortune my last dollar has brought us she will be as merry as a lark."

He paused just outside the door, but could hear nothing. "Of course she is asleep," he said. "Well, it is all the better. It was too cold for the poor, hungry little thing to sit up and wait."

With a smile on his face he gently opened the door and stepped in. "My dear!" he whispered. The face on the pillow was very white, and the fragile figure under the covering was motionless.

"Darling," said Duval, "open your eyes and look!" He placed his hand on the floor, and drew out a package of bank notes. A horrible thought entered the watcher's mind. He saw the money and rushed to his wife's bedside.

He kissed her cold lips, and chafed her icy hands, and cried aloud in his despair. It was too late. His last dollar must have carried a curse with it. When the people of the house looked into the room early the next morning and saw the dead woman on the bed, the piles of money scattered about on the floor, and the gibbering man who was crouched in one corner, they could not understand the mystery.

Happily Duval did not live many days. He was buried by the side of his wife, and his money went into the hands of strangers who did not know and did not care how it had been obtained.

THEY DON'T KISS IN CHICAGO.

And It May be that the Big-Foot Girls Out There are Kicking.

From the Chicago Tribune. Kissing is out of style. Nobody does it now but sweethearts, young children and teachers. The first blow was struck by the medical profession about the time of the decease of Princess Alice. Ever since then practice has been denounced in all families where proper respect is paid to hygiene, children are strongly cautioned against promiscuous kissing.

In society a woman is not kissed twice in a season. When an old friend is greeted and she advances with her lips the victim turns her face and the caress falls aslant. Possibly the very woman who is opposed to the practice takes the initiative, but her lips never meet lips. She may kiss within a fraction of your mouth—kiss your chin, your cheek, or your forehead; kiss your "eyelid into repose," or kiss your hair, but if she has had any training socially she will never kiss your mouth.

The repugnance to kissing is due largely to academic training. In nearly all the famous colleges for women there is a special teacher or doctress in physiology, and in the so-called recitations the pernicious effects of occlusion are considered at great length. By way of tolerating what seems to be a necessary evil various theories are advanced and various provisions are considered at great length.

Smith (college, Northampton, kisses on the oblique lips that fall from the left corner of your mouth, but when kissed is so adroit in the way she jerks her head that the point of salutation may be found on a radius from the right of her demure little mouth. The Vassar graduate kisses more than her Smith college friend, but the chin is her choice, as you can observe in an attempt to salute her. The seniors from Wellesley press their kisses high up on the face, almost under the sweep of the eyelash, and the Lake Forest and Harvard Annex maidens kiss at a point equally distant from the nose and ear.

Nothing is more dainty than the kiss of a well-bred chaperon, who, mindful of the time and trouble spent over the powder box, gently presses her lips on your hair just north of your ear. The minister's wife is another variety, who knows where a kiss will do the least harm, and her favorite method is an air kiss, with the gentle pressure of her cheek to your cheek.

The woman of fashion, who patronizes and lets you visit her while she is at her sister's, kisses you anywhere about the triangle between the eye, ear and hair line. She learned long ago about the incompatibility of hasty kisses, and as she advances you see her lips turn in, and simultaneously with the kiss is a tick, vicious noise that sounds like the tearing of a middle aged marshmallow drop.

The advocates of the use of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup are innumerable. Price 25 cents.

People don't like high priced liniments, but they like Salvation Oil for 25 cents.

The Oldest Church in Virginia.

From the Washington Star, November 13. The movement to restore the Old Brick church at Staunton, Va., which is supposed to be the oldest church in Virginia, has been successful, and the restoration is nearly complete. The church was built in 1731, and was occupied continually for two centuries. Among other contributions to the restoration were 2,000 bricks which had formed the walls of the Bay church, which, of later date, was associated with the old church.

These bricks have passed the Bay church, having served me as of their time in the walls of a farmer's kitchen, while part of them stood in a white as the walls of a burying ground. Old brick strengthens the walls of the restored church, and are the fourth set. The first, put on in 1823, remained till 1737-1805 years; in 1737, the second set was put on and remained about 84 years, when new ones were substituted for them. These remained until the present summer, when they were removed, the church roof having fallen in. There will be 31 stained glass memorial windows in the church. Of the six windows in the church which will be a memorial of the Indian Princess Pocahontas, the first fruits of the gospel in Virginia. The window immediately opposite this one, on the right, will be a memorial of the Rev. Robert Knott, who was a member of the church, and the one immediately west of his will be in memory of Colonel Josiah Parker, one of the great patriots of the Revolution. The place where the battle was fought is on a little hill, scarcely more than an eighth of a mile from the village. It was the aim of the Americans to dislodge the British from the position they held in occupying this little rise of ground. The Americans, under Brown, had set out from Niagara Falls, but a mile away, with the intention of clearing the border line of the King's subjects. Here they met their first actual resistance.

It was intended at first to burn only the Americans, but the Yankees were so thin and raw-boned that they were not worth the trouble of burning. The day after the battle, when the moon went into a cloud and the men could see to fight no longer, the British were left in possession of the field, and when they awoke the next morning they found that the Americans had fallen back toward the river. As it was in the middle of summer, and very hot and sultry, it was found that there was not time to bury the dead. So they were thrown together in piles, and with fence rails for kindling-wood, the dead were got quickly out of the way."

As I was going down the hill on my way back to the falls I came across a very gentlemanly-looking man, who had just been to the battle. He was Mr. Lowell. He was very communicative, and entered into a long conversation. "Just here where we are standing your Miller made a series of great charges to take our cannon. One of the first two charges he was unsuccessful. The third time, rushing before him with a great dash, he waved his sword in the air over his head, and shouted, 'Now, you come along! The guns of the British were the Americans had fallen back toward the river. As it was in the middle of summer, and very hot and sultry, it was found that there was not time to bury the dead. from the village. It was the aim of the Americans to dislodge the British from the position they held in occupying this little rise of ground. The Americans, under Brown, had set out from Niagara Falls, but a mile away, with the intention of clearing the border line of the King's subjects. Here they met their first actual resistance.

It was intended at first to burn only the Americans, but the Yankees were so thin and raw-boned that they were not worth the trouble of burning. The day after the battle, when the moon went into a cloud and the men could see to fight no longer, the British were left in possession of the field, and when they awoke the next morning they found that the Americans had fallen back toward the river. As it was in the middle of summer, and very hot and sultry, it was found that there was not time to bury the dead. So they were thrown together in piles, and with fence rails for kindling-wood, the dead were got quickly out of the way."

The battle was a drawn one. The two armies were almost equally matched in point of numbers. Fighting began about four o'clock the afternoon of the 24th of July, 1714, and was continued by moonlight until about twelve, when the moon went into a cloud and the men could see to fight no longer. The British were left in possession of the field, and when they awoke the next morning they found that the Americans had fallen back toward the river. As it was in the middle of summer, and very hot and sultry, it was found that there was not time to bury the dead. So they were thrown together in piles, and with fence rails for kindling-wood, the dead were got quickly out of the way."

As I was going down the hill on my way back to the falls I came across a very gentlemanly-looking man, who had just been to the battle. He was Mr. Lowell. He was very communicative, and entered into a long conversation. "Just here where we are standing your Miller made a series of great charges to take our cannon. One of the first two charges he was unsuccessful. The third time, rushing before him with a great dash, he waved his sword in the air over his head, and shouted, 'Now, you come along! The guns of the British were the Americans had fallen back toward the river. As it was in the middle of summer, and very hot and sultry, it was found that there was not time to bury the dead. So they were thrown together in piles, and with fence rails for kindling-wood, the dead were got quickly out of the way."

The Suggestion of the Assistant Postmaster-General.

A POSTAL CARD AND STAMP AGENCY

Recommended to be Established Here—Statistics of the Postoffice Department—News of Interest.

WASHINGTON, November 26.—The report of the third assistant postmaster general for the last fiscal year shows that the total ordinary postal revenue of the year was $48,118,273; revenue from money order business, $713,337; making a total of $48,831,610. Total expenditures for the year, including actual and estimated outstanding liabilities, amounted to $53,133,232, showing a deficit in revenue of $4,301,622. In addition to this, there was certified to the secretary of the treasury, for credit to Pacific railroad companies, in their account with the government, being the amount of $2,000,000, so that the total excess of the cost of the postal service over its revenues was $5,301,622. The receipts of the year were 11.1 per cent greater than those of the previous year. The increase of expenditures was at a ratio of but three-fourths per cent.

If these rates should continue during the current year, at its close the postal service will be, practically, again at a self-sustaining basis. So heavy an increase in revenue, however, says the report, is not to be reasonably expected. The estimate is that receipts will increase at a rate of nine per cent during the current year, and at a rate of eight per cent during the next; so that by the end of the fiscal year the department's revenues will not be far apart. The special delivery system has made considerable advance during the year, figures indicating an increase of twenty-two per cent over the previous year.

Attention is called to the sub-agency for the distribution of postal cards and stamped envelopes established during the year at Chicago, Ill., which has been a successful one, but it has saved a very considerable amount to the government. Recommendation is made for two other similar agencies at St. Louis, Mo., and Atlanta, Ga.

The number of pieces of matter registered during the year at all postoffices was 12,724,421, the fees paid on which amounted to $1,024,075.

This is an increase of 6.5 per cent over the business of the previous year. As of consequence in connection with the admission of newspapers and periodicals to mails as second-class matter, and investigations of inspectors, recommendation is made that in all cases where copies are sent in the transaction of postal business, postmasters be authorized to administer them. Three important recommendations are made as to the manner of collecting postage on second-class matter, and as to abuses which spring from defects in the present law. The first of these is that the postage on such matter shall be paid by the attachment of adhesive stamps as is required for all other mail matter, denominations running from one cent to a dollar, and in such pieces, to be required amount for bulk matter.

The second is that only legitimate newspapers and periodicals be admitted to the second-class rate of postage. In other words, certain books, which, it is claimed, are in no sense periodicals, except that they profess to be issued at regular periods—such as newspapers, libraries, etc.—be admitted only at the third-class rate.

The third is that the number of sample copies of second-class matter sent to publishers be limited. Many periodicals, it is stated, which under the law now gain admittance as second-class matter, being enabled by the privilege of sending them free of postage, to sell at a lower price than they could command if they were required to pay postage at a nominal price of subscription.

LEAF TOBACCO.

Statistics Showing the Yield and Supply of Kentucky.

LOUISVILLE, November 26.—The Courier-Journal this morning publishes a comprehensive and valuable report of the leaf tobacco situation, showing facts of the yield and supply against the averages of consumption. When it is considered that Kentucky produces 75 per cent of the leaf tobacco crop of the United States, and Kentucky, Indiana, Illinois, Tennessee, Ohio and Missouri, produces 73 per cent of the total crop of the United States, it will be seen that the summary is of general interest.

Following are the main points of the report: The western crop of leaf tobacco, 1887, 12,625,000 pounds, or 12,625,000 pounds, and the eastern leaf crop 72,000,000 pounds, or 72,000,000 pounds. The eastern and western leaf crops and the total crop of the United States make 84,625,000 pounds against 80,000,000 a year ago 55,000,000 a year ago. The supply from new crops and market stocks fall 21,000,000 pounds below the last average taken for domestic foreign consumption, while in 1886 there was a surplus of 23,000,000 pounds and in 1885 a surplus of 43,000,000 pounds. The western leaf crop of 12,625,000 pounds, and the dark and heavy crop 30,000,000 pounds.

In conclusion the report states: In this tobacco year the trade, Louisville has much more than maintained her former prominence as the principal tobacco market of the United States, and the demand for leaf tobacco has done here in 1887 materially surpasses in magnitude that of other years, including that of the Jubilee year of 1885.

LARGE LABOR CONVENTION.

Delegations from Several Cities to Meet in Buffalo.

BUFFALO, N. Y., November 25.—The labor trouble in the Buffalo ship yards are likely to widen into national prominence. A meeting of all the prominent labor organizations of the lakes is called for Monday, the 28th instant, in Cleveland. At this session five Cleveland congressmen will be represented, three from Chicago, two each from Detroit, Bay City, Port Huron and Buffalo, and one each from Milwaukee and Milwaukee. The meeting will last two days, and their business will be finished. The chief business will be to settle the ship yard labor trouble. It is reported that Knights of Labor assembly have been invited to support the Buffalo assembly during their deliberations and also furnishing them work. It is presumed that the object of the Cleveland meeting to initiate a general strike of the lakes among all companies until the question is settled of employing union labor only. A strike, similar to the one in Buffalo, is contemplated by the Knights of Labor, and it is believed that this union action of the shipbuilding companies, it looks as though ship building would be totally suspended in a short time.

Social Events in Reynolds.

REYNOLDS, Ga., November 26.—Mrs. S. F. Mann, of Barnesville, spent a few days here last week.

Mr. W. A. McNeal and his charming bride are visiting the city, and Mr. C. B. Marshall, Mrs. B. H. Griffith, of Butler, is visiting Mrs. Dr. Griffith.

Miss Hattie Hicks, who has been visiting relatives in Louisville, returned home yesterday. Miss Eula Beall, one of the charming belles of Panhandle district, is visiting Miss Nettie Paris.

Miss George Hodges is quite ill at the residence of her father in this place. The young people have now in progress a delightful reading party, with Professor P. F. Frenck as president, Mr. J. G. Giffin, vice-president, and Mr. F. F. Paris, secretary.

The Crop Out Turn in North Carolina.

RETHROFORD, N. C., November 26.—[Special.]—Your correspondent has recently visited nearly all the important crops of the State in this state, and finds that receipts have fallen off considerably below last year.

The cotton crop is nearly all gathered, and the quality is very good, but owing to a much larger decrease in acreage than was expected it will not be much over a half crop. The upland cotton is, in proportionately large, which accounts for the large decrease in the cotton area.

The acreage sown in wheat this fall is much smaller than usual.

Freddie's Bad Box.

COLUMBIA, Ga., November 26.—[Special.]—

Thomas Preddy was arrested here yesterday on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon.

Preddy was arrested in the room of $100 to appear before Judge Wynn next Saturday when the case will be tried.

THE CONFEDERACY'S ENGRAVEL.

Death of Jacques Wislizer, Who Made the Confederate Money.

PHILADELPHIA, November 26.—Jacques Wislizer, who engraved nearly all the plates from which the money and bonds of the Confederate States of America were printed, died last night at his home in Camden, N. J., aged 84 years. Until a few years ago, when he began to affect the accuracy of his hand, he was one of the most skillful lithographers in this country. Besides his skill in that profession, he was an artist of no mean ability, and his portrait work in crayon and oil was in much demand almost up to his death.

Wislizer was born in Strasbourg in 1803. He was educated in Paris and spoke five languages, with more than average fluency. He came to this country in 1849 and was employed by a well-known lithographer firm. He remained with them until just before the breaking out of the war, when he was engaged at a much increased salary by the Confederate States. He was once dispatched to Richmond, telling him he would there be instructed as to his work. Within a few days after his arrival at the city he was fired on, and he found himself in the whirlpool of the great civil conflict. Wislizer was informed that he was assigned to the work of engraving paper money and bonds of the new confederacy, and although his sympathies were with the north, he found himself virtually a prisoner at Richmond. He made his escape, however, and returned to Philadelphia, where he was sent for his wife and family. They were outspoken in their loyalty to the union cause, and on account of their husband's participation in the war, they were subjected to the most cruel treatment. Mr. Wislizer acquired a snug fortune while making money for the confederacy, but they grew suspicious of his motives, and he was finally driven to his estate. After the cessation of hostilities he purchased a farm near Macon, Miss., and resided there for several years, finally coming to Camden.

AN EXTRAORDINARY STORY.

Which Shows the Fertile Imagination of a Correspondent.

COLUMBIA, S. C., November 26.—[Special.]—An extraordinary occurrence is reported from Columbia, S. C., by a correspondent. It is said that a young man, who had been ill several days, died last Wednesday. The body was properly prepared and dressed for burial, and was placed in a coffin. The coffin was then placed in a hearse, and the hearse was driven to the cemetery. The hearse was then driven to the cemetery, and the body was placed in the ground.

GERMANY AND RUSSIA.

The Alleged Orleanist Conspiracy to Get Up Ill Feeling Among the Powers.

PARIS, November 25.—The Postoffice League states that each of the powers in the triple alliance is only bound to assist the ally if two powers attack it. It says an ally is bound, under all circumstances, to assist the ally. The paper also says that Prince Bismarck informed the czar, at the interview in Berlin last Friday, that the triple alliance was the result of Russian influence and will. The reference to the Orleanist conspiracy in connection with the forged letter received by the czar is due to a desire to at present avoid recrimination between Russian notables. The forged letter disclosure will principally affect Russians. Only secondary details have yet been reported of the interview between the czar and Prince Bismarck. The most important points have not been divulged.

PARIS, November 25.—The Monitor (Orleanist) referring to the revelations of the Cologne Gazette declares that the story of the alleged Orleanist conspiracy to discredit Germany in the eyes of Russia is a bad joke, and could not be taken seriously by any French journal. The monarchist, it says, has always desired and striven to maintain peace.

A CAZAR AND PRINCE.

The Interview Between Bismarck and the Russian Ruler.

PARIS, November 25.—The Postoffice League states the interview between Prince Bismarck and the czar was a dramatic one. Prince Bismarck was scarcely able to restrain his passion. The czar assured the German chancellor that he desired peace, and did not intend to attack Germany or to take any part in any coalition against her. Prince Bismarck declared that whoever wished peace must not attack Germany's allies. He presented the cause of peace as a duty which the czar admitted that Prince Bismarck's views were not new to him, and added that his declarations regarding Germany applied equally to Austria.

BERLIN, November 25.—The passion shown by Prince Bismarck, in his interview with the czar here, was the outcome of his learning of the receipt by the Russian government, of forged letters, purporting to be signed by him, in regard to the Orleanist conspiracy. It was after the czar had heard an explanation of the matter by Prince Bismarck that he gave him the assurances spoken of by the Postoffice League.

BALFOUR ON O'BRIEN'S TREATMENT.

He Says the Irish Rebel Will Not Be Forced to Wear Prison Clothes.

LONDON, November 25.—A letter written by Mr. Balfour is published, in which he refers to the treatment of O'Brien in prison. He says that O'Brien is not treated in a manner which is either lenient or severe. He has succeeded in sheltering himself under a medical certificate, and is able to do as he pleases. He is not treated in a manner which is either lenient or severe. He has succeeded in sheltering himself under a medical certificate, and is able to do as he pleases.

THE LUTHERANS.

The Lutheran Synod Still in Session in Savannah.

SAVANNAH, Ga., November 26.—[Special.]—The Lutheran synod continued its sessions today. Resolutions of thanks were adopted in return for their trip to Tybee and the great day of missions, which was not concluded yesterday. There was considerable discussion over a resolution, which was finally adopted. The resolution was to support the mission in the empire of Japan, if the board considers it advisable. The next item on the report was a recommendation that $2,000 be raised for the mission in the empire of Japan.

RE. J. E. Bushnell, of Roanoke, Va., amended the resolution appropriating $2,000, so that it authorized the board to assess the members of the synod 25 cents per capita for foreign mission work.

Hon. D. M. Strouse favored the amendment, but suggested that the per capita be made $1. Rev. J. E. Bushnell, of Roanoke, Va., amended the resolution appropriating $2,000, so that it authorized the board to assess the members of the synod 25 cents per capita for foreign mission work.

A NOVEL SCENE.

Bachelor's Banquet in the Hotel Dining Room.

A GAY AND FESTIVE ASSEMBLAGE

Of the Unmarried Mob, Who Enjoy Themselves Into the "Wine and Hours" of the Night.

GAINESVILLE, Ga., November 26.—[Special.] Thursday night was one of rare enjoyment to the bachelors of Gainesville who assembled at the Arlington hotel to partake of a sumptuous feast, prepared by Mr. Wink Taylor, the clever proprietor, which was designated as a "bachelor's supper." Good cheer prevailed, and the dining room resounded with merry chat and happy speech. The occasion was one long to be remembered, as the Arlington has seldom witnessed such a feast of reason and flow of soul, as that which characterized this night. The menu was superb, and the sparkling wine lent charm to the occasion.

It was something of forty bachelors, and a few invited guests (married men) entered the banquet hall, and took seats around the table. An address of welcome was given by Major J. H. Butt, the senior bachelor present. It was brief and pointed and delivered in his happiest style. Captain W. C. Cobb, master of ceremonies, then gave the toast to begin the onslaught on the eatables, and into this work all entered with evident zeal. The following named couples were present: Mr. and Mrs. H. W. I. Ham, Mayor H. T. Martin and Chief of Police T. N. Hanis. At short intervals, the married couples were called and responded to as follows:

Our National Government—Hon. A. D. Candler. Our State Government—Hon. A. W. J. Ham. Our City Government—Hon. J. H. Butt. Our Prospective Wife—Major J. H. Butt. Our Future—Mr. A. S. LaFayette. Our Guests—Mr. T. M. Smith. Our Hosts—Mr. W. C. Cobb. Our Future—Mr. A. S. LaFayette. Our Guests—Mr. T. M. Smith. Our Hosts—Mr. W. C. Cobb.

Some of the speakers were happy in their remarks—salutes of wit and humor darting from the lips of the bachelors. There was a lull in the festivities and the room was deserted by the gay throng, who wended their way homeward. The bachelors' supper was held at the Arlington hotel.

FOURTH DAY.

The Georgia Methodist Conference at Work.

PROCEEDING OF YESTERDAY'S SESSION

The Church Work and the Work of the Conference—The Programme for Today's Services, Etc.

The conference was opened yesterday morning with religious services, conducted by Rev.
J. L. Fowler.

Traveling Deacons P. P. Carroll and J. B.
Wilkins were elected elders.

Revs. B. W. Huckabee and F. L. Cochran
were advanced to the second year.

The following were continued on the super-annuated list: C. W. Parker, W. Brewer,
John Murphy and A. W. Caldwell.

Rev. T. H. Triplett was placed on the effective list.

Rev. R. P. Lamsden was continued as super-numernary.

THE VERSATILE VINCENT.
Rev. J. H. Vincent, D. D., corresponding secretary of the American Sunday School

union, addressed the conference on Sunday school work and the importance of laying hold of the little children. The most important thing was not how the thing was done, but having it done.

A child three years old will use nine hundred words. He urged preachers not to say that they will get down to the children. The boys will resent it.

I will give more for a child's smile than a drink of the nectar of the Gods. When you win a boy, you have got the man.

It is not the costliest buildings that accomplish the greatest results. An old school house, decorated with evergreens and laurel, will demonstrate that taste and beauty is precedable in rough places. Make the school attractive. You need to hold a firmer grip on the older children. Put more responsibility on them. I believe in home power. The mother and father in seven days, can do more than the preacher in one hour.

A sermon can be made to weigh a ton by the example of the parents. While we work for little tot we should work to get hold of little tot's father and mother.

The man who studies God's word is an educated man. Saturate yourself with it.
Make it your life, your heart-beat. Spurgeon
is one of the most remarkable of men.

Although lacking in early advantages he has made the Bible his book of study, and never preaches a dull sermon.

When the erudite Trubner was asked if the earnest Braunell didn't wander from his subject, replied: "He do wonder delightfully
from the subject to the heart."

He called attention to the Southern Reading Circle, of which Rev. A. F. Ellington, of Atlanta, is corresponding secretary, and urged
all to become members at $2 per annum.

WHOLESALE LITERATURE.
Rev. T. C. Carter addressed the conference
in advocacy of a revival on the subject of reading. There were too many bookless homes.

There should be a correct standard of reading and wholesome literature used. Rev. Dr.
Vincent admitted a man aged 88 into the Southern Reading Circle and told him to go into the world and carve a fortune for himself.

A SPECIAL PRAYER.
Bishop Walden said that he had learned that Mr. H. W. Grady, the night of his ap-perb address on prohibition, was taken sick
and was still indisposed. In giving strength to the cause he had overtaxed his own strength.

He called upon Rev. James Mitchell to offer
special prayer for the restoration to health of this eloquent defender of the Right of God and Humanity. After singing, "What a Friend We Have in Jesus," Rev. Dr. Mitchell offered a fervent prayer.

At Loyd street church Miss Jennie Smith offered a special prayer that Mr. Grady might be spared to do for the nation what he has done in Atlanta.

Special prayer was also offered for his recovery
at the prayer meeting in the First Baptist church.

EXPELLED FROM THE CHURCH.
The committee appointed to try the charges against Rev. J. H. Dunn reported that they found the charges sustained, and on motion he was expelled from the church and the ministry of the M. E. church.

ANNUAL STATISTICS.
The report of the statistical secretary showed
the following facts:

The Atlanta district has thirty-nine church buildings, valued at $29,335; 299 members, five
local preachers; twenty-eight Sunday schools,
with 1,231 teachers and pupils; $4,199 had been paid out for ministerial support.

In the Dalton district there were thirty-five church buildings, valued at $12,500; 1,886 members; Sunday schools, eight, with 1,258 teachers and pupils; paid for ministerial support, $619.

In the South Georgia district there are twenty-five churches, valued at $1,750; 222
members; Sunday schools, eight, with 1,178
teachers and pupils; $262 paid for ministerial support.

The conference reassembled at 7:30 last night.

The following were admitted on trial: Atlanta district, H. R. Davies; Dalton district, T. J. Turner and P. P. Carroll, Jr.

St. Zion, in Chalk county, and Ellijay were put in nomination for the next place of meeting. Ellijay was selected.

The conference refused to adopt a resolution
authorizing the general conference of Christ-ianity to make a recommendation to the section relative to representation in that body.

STANDING COMMITTEES.
The following were elected the board of education: President, Bishop J. M. Walden;
vice-president, R. H. Roff; treasurer, R. S.
Bogert; secretary, James Mitchell; directors, J. E. Bryant, H. Boyd, L. D. Ellington, J. L. Fowler, R. H. Waters.

Sunday School society—President, R. H.
Waters; vice-president, L. M. Hipp; secretary, L. D. Ellington; treasurer, J. A. Thurman.
Missionary society—President, L. D. Ellington;
secretary, R. H. Roff; treasurer, B. M.
Hipp; managers, A. F. Ellington, J. A.
Thurman, W. E. Tarpley, J. H. Harley.

For admission on trial—W. E. Tarpley, J.
B. Wilkins.

First year—A. F. Ellington, E. F. Dean.
Second year—R. H. Waters, T. G. Chase.
Third year—H. R. Roff, J. A. Thurman.

Fourth year—L. D. Ellington, J. H. Harley.

Local orders—H. Boyd, P. P. Carroll.
Treasurers—B. M. Hipp, L. D. Ellington.
T. G. Chase, J. L. Fowler, W. H.
Sullivan, W. E. Tarpley, R. H. Roff.

FIRM ON TEMPERANCE.
The committee on temperance submitted
the following resolutions, which were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That we reaffirm the declaration of our denial line that voluntary total abstinence from all intoxicants is the true path of personal temperance, and complete legal prohibition of the traffic
is also the duty of civil government.

Resolved, We will cheerfully co-operate with all organizations and persons which seem to us to have in view the good of the community.

Resolved, We congratulate the good people of Atlanta on the heroic fight for prohibition just now being fought, and hope it will result in a should they be defeated, we pray that they may fall, but press the battle until victory is complete.

All occurred in stating that defeat with
the good people was far preferable to victory
with such an associated cause of which.

Rev. A. F. Ellington was appointed to preach the next missionary sermon, with High Boyd as alternate.

SABBATH OBSERVANCE.
The committee on Sabbath observance submitted the following resolutions which were adopted:

Resolved, That we, the ministers of the Gospel, will not violate God's law by unnecessary traveling long distances on the Sabbath
to reach or return to our appointments.

Resolved, That we will ride on the train
on Sunday unless in cases of absolute necessity.

Resolved, That we will in all possible ways
discourage our people from social visiting and all other work upon the Sabbath,
which is not absolutely necessary.

Resolved, That we memorialize our next general conference to make a faithful effort to secure such legislation in congress and the passenger cars, as will prevent all mail and freight trains from running on the Lord's day.

Resolved, That each of us will preach expressly upon this subject in each of our churches.

THE WHITE CROSS.
The special committee on the commemo-

tion of Miss Frances E. Willard submitted the following resolutions, which were adopted:

Resolved, That we fully approve of the aims and plans of the Woman's National Christian Temperance Union in the erection of a distinct department in this great enterprise for the promotion of social purity, and the work of the White Cross which aims like to guard the purity of the life and the heart.

Resolved, That in our common society is unjust to woman that it is a crime in the weight of its consequences, in favor of the offending man and against the offending woman. And we hold in justice that her fall should be regarded as no more than the fall of a stronger sex, and that offending men when strictly proved should be held to account and severe punishment as women, but that on repentance and reformation mercy should be shown to both.

Resolved, That we extend a cordial invitation to all the advocates of social purity in connection with the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, and will do what we can to strengthen their literature throughout the bounds of our work, and request the secretary to publish their pledges for information in our annual bulletin.

REPORT ON EDUCATION.
The committee reported the schools belonging to this denomination to be in an enlarged patronage.

John Keely.

We beg to direct the attention of our readers
to the advertisement of this stirring merchant, which goes on front page today. Keely has been amongst the many who have been "lost in the gains." It is truly wonderful what sales he makes in this department. Only lately have we been aware of the possibilities in this direction, but then,
Keely manages to find those who will, for the cash,
sacrifice large lots, and of course, he is able to offer
such inducements as many others cannot. His sales in cloaks run up to two hundred and more sometimes. This amount of trade can only be done by carrying an enormous stock and by selling at the right prices.

His "scrap" of cloaks last week was, he says,
the biggest thing of the kind he has ever struck, and the first day. They were marked off, and he sold a menor lot of them. Read the captain's handsome notice on our first page and he will be convinced.

COURT AND CAPITOL.

What Was Done in the Departments Yesterday.

CONFEDERATE SOLDIERS' PENSIONS

Matters of News and Moment Collected
Yesterday About the State, Nation, and Courtroom.

Yesterday was a quiet day in the statehouse
and but little news of interest transpired.
Governor Gordon was not in his office yesterday, and it was understood that he was out of the city. Below will be found the news of the day.

The Governor and his Cabinet.

THE COMMISSIONER OF COLONEL JOHN S.
SMITH, as solicitor general of the State Mountain circuit, was named yesterday, and would have been signed had the governor
been present. The bond of the new solicitor has been made, and is properly signed. It is for the amount of ten thousand dollars. It is likely that he will enter upon the duties of his office in a very few days.

THE FOLLOWING WARRANTS were issued yesterday to the named ex-confederate soldiers,
legally qualified to draw under the act of 1887:

J. P. Edwards, Co. F, 29th Ga., wounded at Ocean Point, Fla., in right hip, $25; James L.
Wilson, Putnam county, Co. E, 12th Ga.,
wounded in left arm at Winchester, $25; E.
P. Reynolds, Oglethorpe county, Co. A, 12th
Ga., wounded in left hand at Marianna, $25;
G. W. Smith, Oglethorpe county, Co. E, 4th
Ga., wounded in right leg at Marianna, $25;
R. K. Brown, Baldwin county, 26th Ga.,
wounded in right hip, $25; Dan Palmer, Mitchell county, Co. E, 17th Ga., wounded
in left ankle at Chickamauga, $25; F. W. Smith, Elbert county, 15th Ga., wounded in the right leg at Marietta, $25; G. C. Johnson, Jackson county, Co. C, 16th Ga., wounded in right leg, $25; G. W. Downing, Lowndes county, Co. D, 50th Ga., wounded in head at Chancel-lersville, $25; George C. Smith, Bibb county, Chaplain Phillips' legion, wounded in left arm
at Bonosboro, $25. All these warrants were presented at the treasury, and were paid over to the claimants.

THE STATE HOUSE DEPARTMENTS were generally quiet yesterday, there being but few visitors, owing to the election and the absence of the governor. Commissioner Henderson has not determined upon the successor of the late Captain McCutchen. Penitentiary Guard
Turner arrived in the city yesterday after an extended visit to the different convict camps.
There was no other news about the department
yesterday.

At the Customhouse.

THE CASE OF LANE MITCHELL vs. Henry
Pink, receiver of the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia Railroad, was called for copying the attention of the court for several days, was given to the jury yesterday, but up to a very late hour last night no verdict had been reached. The case is a very complicated
one and the result is exceedingly doubtful.

THE SUPREME COURT. LET THERE BE LIGHT.

Decisions Rendered During the Week.

REPORT OF DECISIONS BY J. H. LUMPKIN

Supreme Court Reporter—Hon. L. E. Block
ley, Chief Justice, and Hon. M. H. Blandford and T. J. Simmons, Associates.

Decisions Rendered November 23, 1887.
Callaway, ex'r., vs. Bridges, adm'r., et al.
Equity, Federal. Oglethorpe. Guardian and ward. Arbitration and award. Re adjudicator. Fraud. Minors. (Before Judge Lumpkin.)

Simons J.—1. Although a guardian of a minor may have colluded with the "surety on his bond" and purchased from him, with the funds of the minor, under an order obtained for that purpose, a tract of land of little value and containing a less number of acres
than the amount mentioned in the deed, yet
where his successor in office submitted the matters between them to arbitration, claiming an amount of money and electing to abide by the contract made by the former guardian,
and where the arbitrators awarded against him
upon the matters submitted to them, he was bound thereby and could not, as guardian, be a bill bringing the same matter into controversy, he not alleging in the bill that he was ignorant of the fraud at the time he agreed to the submission to arbitration.

2. Where an application is made by a guardian to the judge of the superior court for leave to invest money of his ward in land, it is not necessary to have a guardian ad litem appointed for the minor ward.

(A.) Where the order allowing such investment was attacked, not only on the ground
that no guardian ad litem had been appointed,
but also on the ground that it was illegal, being the result of fraudulent collusion between the former guardian and the surety on her bond, that she only intended thereby to secure a home for herself and her family; and that the vendor transferred an almost worthless piece of land at a very exorbitant price,
knowing when she made a grant that the price was unreasonable, unjust, illegal and inequitable, there was no error in overruling a demurrer to that portion of the bill.

Judgment reversed.

W. M. & M. P. Reese; W. M. Howard, for plaintiff in error.

J. T. Olive, for defendants.

Short vs. State. Obstructing process, from Wilkes. Executions. Taxes. Criminal law. Officers. (Before Judge Lumpkin.)

Simmons J.—Every act of an officer should be based upon the face of evidence of his official character. Therefore, where a tax bill was issued and signed by Wm. R. Smith, and it appeared neither by the return nor by the
"tax collector" to his signature nor otherwise
on the face of the paper, that he was tax collector, it was not a legal process; and if the defendant named therein resisted the levy of such bill, he was not guilty of obstructing,
resisting and opposing such officer in executing his duty.

Legal process. Blackwell on Tax Titles,
3423; 9 Vt., 282; 12 Id., 688; 19 Id., 49.

Judgment reversed.

Colley & Sims, for plaintiff in error.

W. M. Howard, solicitor general, for the state.

Timmons vs. State. Forgery, from Oconee.
Criminal law. New Trial. Before Judge Hutchins.

Simmons J.—1. The defendant in this case was indicted in five counts, charging him both with forgery and uttering a forged paper. The evidence was sufficient to have authorized a
conviction upon all the counts, and a verdict
finding him guilty of uttering a forged paper
was demanded by the evidence.

Where the evidence was sufficient to authorize a
conviction upon all the counts, and a verdict
finding him guilty of uttering a forged paper
was demanded by the evidence.

Judgment affirmed.

Lumpkin & Earnest; George C. Thomas,
for plaintiff in error.

No appearance for the state.

Decisions Rendered November 25, 1887.

Bryant vs. State. Murder, from Madison.
Criminal law. Evidence. Dying declarations. Charge of court. New Trial. Venue.
(Before Judge Lumpkin.)

Blandford J.—Where the evidence
showed that, on a certain Monday evening,
a person was carried to the jail under a charge
of burglary, and there incarcerated, but no
warrant was produced, and it was stated that he carried him there, and where it appar-
ed that he showed signs of having been beaten,
and died from the effects of the wound on the following day, the jury were not bound to find that he was guilty of murder, but on the Friday after his incarceration, he stated that he was going to die, and that a clan
of men had taken him and whipped him with a buggy trace, and that he was in no particular danger when he made the statements, and although a certain doctor, who was sent for on Monday before he died, testified to the effect

These are the well known gentlemen that compose the Littlehook Lamp company, organized in 1873, and now furnish light to nearly all the civilized countries in the world. Hundreds of thousands of the Littlehook lamps are now used in Europe, Asia, Australia, Mexico, N. & S. and America, and on the coast of Africa, and giving the very best of satisfaction, as numerous letters of commendation testify from persons who have used
the lamp from six to eight years. The large, silvery, mellow light of this lamp is simply wonderful,
without chimney, shade or globe. NO SMOKE,
NO OIL, NO DANGER, NO EXHAUSTION NOR BREAKING. It is ECONOMICAL, L using less oil than an ordinary lamp, giving three times the light; better and steadier light than gas at one-fifth of the cost, and a saving of the eye. Agents are doing splendidly in the sale of this lamp. Nearly everybody wants one. There is opportunity for good agents in nearly all the southern states.

A Card to the Public.

In Friday morning's CONSTITUTION appeared
the following advertisement, in black type, published by the anti-prohibition committee:

[Communicated.]

The prohibitionists, through Tom Corrigan,
a complete liar, have caused the following advertisement to be inserted in the Evening
Journal, of Friday, a card of which the following
was the closing sentence:

"The charge of this liquor men that I had a hand
in making this good liquor, and that I was the owner of it, and that I was the one who was killing it at the time."

Immediately beneath my card when it appeared in the CONSTITUTION, was printed the following:

ATLANTA, November 25.—Mr. T. F. Corrigan, Attorney at Law, in the afternoon Journal of this date, November 25, you have a card relative to the Yellowstone Kilt sensation. In that card, which is headed "Another Slander," you use, over and over again, the words "I had a hand in making this good liquor, and that I was the owner of it, and that I was the one who was killing it at the time."

I am "the man" who wrote that article, and I say
when you make the assertion that I knew that I was using a willful and malicious lie; but there is no necessity for a reply to this through the papers.

Respectfully,
E. C. BRUFFEY.

I met Mr. Bruffey on the street about nine o'clock on Saturday morning
and approached him with such intentions as would naturally be suggested by the closing sentence of the article in the Journal in which it transpired that Mr. Bruffey had addressed the letter to me under a misapprehension, he supposing that I was the author of the article. I told him that I was not the author of the article, and that I had not written it as a reporter. It appeared that the mistake in the matter was being evident. Mr. Bruffey stated to me that he regretted his mistake, and that he would retract the article in any paper in which it appeared. He said that he would call on me at prohibition headquarters
on Monday morning, and that he would have my card referred to the advertisement and not to the interview, he would cheerfully do anything that I asked.

I did not see Mr. Bruffey any more during the day
—possibly because I was absent when he called.
I have not seen him since. I do not feel that I ought to address him a communication stating that
my card had no reference to what he had written.
While that was the case, I do not feel that I ought to write. At the same time, it would be extremely proper for him to retract the article in any paper in which it appeared, and to state that he had not written it, and that he was not the author of the article. I have no objection to his doing so, and I have no objection to his calling on me at prohibition headquarters on Monday morning, and that he would have my card referred to the advertisement and not to the interview, he would cheerfully do anything that I asked.

Piedmont Exposition Awards.

The stove and range exhibits were excellent.
A large number of entries were received, and each exhibitor exerted his utmost to outdo his rivals.

Several of the largest stove foundries in the United States were represented, and many of the best
men, while many other founders were represented
by local dealers.

The decision of the committee in awarding two first premiums to W. J. Wood, the stove, one of our local exhibitors. Among these were a public sentiment and a hearty approval from all.

Mr. Wood was awarded one gold medal for best stove, and one silver medal for best range. He was also awarded a number of other medals and prizes
for his excellent work.

A second gold medal was given Mr. Wood for his stove, and a silver medal for his range. He was also awarded a number of other medals and prizes for his excellent work.

The handsome nickel-plated range given for the best lot of brass by a girl under eighteen was won
by that charming and accomplished young lady,
Miss Annie Taylor, 62 Walker street. This was given by Mr. W. J. Wood, who was the proprietor of the exhibition.

The baby carriage offered by Mr. Wood for the best lot of brass by a girl under eighteen was won
by that charming and accomplished young lady,
Miss Annie Taylor, 62 Walker street. This was given by Mr. W. J. Wood, who was the proprietor of the exhibition.

The report that Mr. Wood's hair had all been pulled out since the award was made is totally untrue, and malicious persons circulating such a story
are unworthy of belief.
